Ragging

A disciplined and organized life on the Campus is extremely important. All concerned should cooperate and sustain an orderly and decent atmosphere in the premises of NUST. Needless to emphasize every year all Institutions are reminded to direct their senior students to behave in a dignified and responsible manner towards their juniors, especially the new entrants. Despite that, there are instances where senior students indulge in ragging which is against all norms of decent behavior and pronouncement of the University.

Above in view, please ensure that these instructions are followed in true letter and spirit. Senior students should be categorically warned that they will be held accountable for such acts and taken action under the University Code of Conduct.

Forwarded for strict compliance, please.
